Mr. McKnight, living the bulk of the Republican vote, yet we understand there was no nominee. His antecedents, relations and friends are Democratic, and we think he will be found true to his principles. Dr. Ransom we have likewise reason to believe will do right. We have no doubt the desperate leaders of the Republican party will promise money, place, &c., for a vote to secure the organization-we know where they have already offered a large bribe to a Democratic memberwhile we will neither give nor professtany ability to bestow other consideration than the welfare of the whole State. Yet we trust that our hopes may be vindicated in the result of the organization Monday, and that the efforts of Radicalism into thwart the will of the people by either direct or indirect bribery will be ignominiously defeated. A little boy wanted to borrow his aunt's dog for a moment, and asked her to let him have a piece of string to he could lead him. "What are you are going to do with him?" said the good lady. The boy hesitated for a moment and then said, "Well you see, a boy round the corner bet me his dog was a larger dog than yours." "Well," said the aunt. "suppose it turns that his dog is the larger one?" "Then," said the nephew, "you'll lose your dog."

"You run this paper, do you?" said a sad-faced man, as he lugged a cowhide into a Western editorial "I've been waiting to see the biggest liar in Missouri for some time, an now, oh! now,"—and then the editor got up and tumbled him down on top of a clothing sign on the first floor, and went on with an article on the resources of the country. Dr. Glenn, of Colusa county, Call-

[From the St. Albans (Vt.) Messenger. In a Car With a Tiger. A cage of tigers which was on its way to a menageric now exhibiting south of here, was placed in one end of the car, a zebra was tied in the other end. The watchman lay down on a box and went to sleep; when he awoke he discovered that one of its cage, forced its way out, and was crouching in the opposite corner. The regular keeper of the animals was in the sleeping car at the rear end of the train, and there was no chance to communicate with him or with any one outside. The poor watchman was fri htened into a motionless silence, and in that awful suspense he made the long and weary journey to St. Albans. After the train came to a halt here, one of the trainmen, in passing the car, sawa large, catlike nose thrust out of an opening, and not knowing that any one's life was endangered in the car, but fearing lest the animal should escape, ran to the sleeping car and aroused the keeper, who soon appeared, rawhide in hand, and lashed the beast back into his den, to the immeasurable relief of the poor fel-low who had been curled up for hours on the box.

A GREAT TOBACCO MARKET. The Danville Times is very justly proud of the exhibit for the last year made by Danville as a tobacco market. # THE WAY THE WIND BLOWS.

At Mecklenburg Court, General Barringer asked what arrangements could be made by which his cases could be disposed of, because, going to the Convention next week, he had reliable information that the Convention would not adjourn immediately.

Just so. The radicals set their traps, and caught the gulls, and now believing they have a majority, determine to hold it, just as we knew they would do, and of which we gave full warning.

THE GEORGIA TRIALS.

Yesterday's telegrams brought the information of the trial and acquittal of Cordy Harris, one of the chief conspirators in the meditated insurrection in Georgia.

This is an additional proof, if any were needed, of the purpose of the people of the South to do equal and exact justice to the colored man. If there ever was an occasion when the scales of justice should have been lives, the chastity, and the property of a people were threatened by the most terrible of all horrors, the insurrection of an inferior race, and when the planners of it had fallen into the hands of those for whom these borrors were prepared.

Mankind would have excused would have justified swift and speedy instice almost without the forms of law. The people of Georgia acted telements of doubt, ignorance, or with noble deliberation, and left to regular course of justice the decision of the fate of the conspirators.-As tender care was observed for the protection of the defendants, as if they had been entitled to consideration. Able counsel for their defense was provided, and, in a legal point to the more energetic of the party of view the evidence against one of the chief conspirators being insuffi- all should have joined. how wide of the mark the Asheville Expositor is in its ideas of the motives that induced the demand for the call of the Convention. The Expositor ascribes it to the influence of. office-holders. It is patent to observation that the opposition to the Convention had a stronger foot-hold among office-holders than any where else. It was one of the ingenious devices of the Canby Constitution to. create a vast number of county offices and thus bind office-holders to the preservation of that Constitution through motives of self interest. the world over, and we find no fault with the men who were called upon to surrender, in all probabilty, places which brought honor or profit to them. It was against the alment that the friends of the Convention had to fight. So far from finding it a friend it had to contend against

We think of the Expositor will investigate the matter a little more closely it will discover that the officer-holder of both parties were alike in their opposition to Convention.

SHIRKING RESPONSIBILITY. We like the tone of the Charlotte Observer in an article under the above caption! It is bold, manly and honest. To the face of apparent defeat, the journal that presumes to lead public opinion gains nothing by bending to the storm. Conscientious convictions cannot be overcome because they fail to impress all alike. He who advocated the call of the Convention because he believed it his duty to the people and to the State, has nothing to reproach himself with if the people were unable to appreciate their true interests, or if they failed to place implicit confidence in the morement, We think always have thought that the politician who urged the reform people. As the Observer remarks, it And the amount paid for it was was not so much hostility to a Condefined fears, the results of government threats made during the Convention move in 1871, that paralyzed action, and kept so many away from the polls.

And in this connection we may say that the Convention being called, if the Democrats control it, we hope to hear no word of adjournment. It was called for a noble purpose, and let that purpose be carried out. He to notes:

THE CALIFORNIA ELECTION.

The success of the Democrats in California is demonstration that the tide that set in last year in favor of that party knows no turning. It goes on to sweep the whole country until it has cleansed it from the stains of Radicalism.

The Radicals claim North Carolina as an exception, point to their majority in the popular vote, and accept it as an endorsement of the party by the people of this State.-We candidly believe that the Democratic party is stronger to-day in North Carolina than it was two years ago. Certainly Radicalism has not become more endeared to it within that time. Certainly the government has not more commended itself by its justice, its purity or its acts for the welfare of the people. unevenly balanced, it was when the | Certainly the people have not become more enamored of the principles of the adminstration, or more ready to adopt its pet theories. The Convention question cannot be taken as the test of the popular strength. It was one upon which the Democratic party was not fully agreed in itselfas a question of policy, and which was in the minds of thousands of voters invested with fear which kept them from the polls, The Radical party treated it purely as a party question. The Democrats did not. The first rallied the last man of their forces to a stand for the existence of the party. The others, too confident in their strength, left the performance of a work in which narrow boundary which separates the two parties in the Convention

They are satisfied of the existence of the conspiracy, and they have the conspiracy, and they have the orde. The Democrats lost by not proud satisfaction, that under the voting at all. It is within the knowledge of every man at every precinct in the State, how many remained at home. Sorry to admit it, but ignor-

It is a grave mistake on the part of our timid friends if they suppose the party is whipped. We venture the assertion that the party is stronger now than it was six weeks ago, and if the occasion offered, would make a more imposing and significant demonstration of its strength than it has done since 1870. It has learned within the last six weeks, what radicalism is. It has seen Executive power used for the suppression of Human nature is much the same all the popular voice. #### LOST IN HIS CORNFIELD.

The Extraordinary Adventures of an Illinoisian-Two days Spent in the Trackless Waste-He Comes Out in Front of His Own Door.

From the Joliet (Ill.) Sun. 26. We have received a report this morning from one of the townships in the eastern part of the county adjoining the State of Indiana, and among other items of interest is the following, which illustrates in a striking manner not only the unequaled fertility of the soil of Illinois, out particularly the extreme growth which crops of all kinds have attained this season: A Frenchman by the name of Cantell A. Goodlie, living in the French settlement, having occasion on Saturday last to visit his brother in-law, living some five miles distant on the prairie, left home about five o'clock in the afternoon. and to save a considerable distance attempted to shorten his walk by taken a cut-off through the intervening corn fields. To those unaccus tomed to seeing Illinois corn fields it may be well to say here that in that section of the country corn is almost the only crop raised over the whole extent of the country for miles and the country being comparatively young, there are but few fences or even hedges to mark the dividing think." line. To the eye it is a sea of corn, and to Mr. Goodle proved to be a wilderness as dangerous as the trackless North woods. Shortly after he nome a severe storm, such as we have had in numbers during the summer, arose and came driving upon him and he was drenched to the skin, The walking became fatiguing at every tep; the carth moistened by the rain, adhered to his boots in great quantities, until it became in possible for him to drag them after | test of legality if resisted?" He look them off and pushed on the best he could; but minute by minute the soil became softer until he sank nearly to his knees in the porous black earth. Night approachd and darkness settled down on the He was miles from any habtation: wet, tired and nearly exhausted, unable to get any landmark, however slight, by which be might be guided to home or friends. all corn waved over him and its depths were impenetrable to his eyes, and he realized that he must pass the night in solitude as if be were in the midst of an African jungle. As he could no longer tell the direction in which to go and could scarely drag one foot advance of the other, he gave up the hopeless attempt, and with a clasp knife-his constant companion—cut down enough of the waying stocks to make him a bed and covering, and shivering with cold and exposure, he sank into a heavy sleep. Night passed and the glowing sun rose above the horizon and took its slow but tireless course across the trackless sky, and still he slept profoundly insensible to the passage of time. The second night sped by, and just as the gray light of early dawn was lighting up the world be awoke. Confused by the light after his long sleep, although unaware that more than one night had gone by during his rest, he stumbled about in uncertainty for a few minutes, until, ascending a small hillock, he cast his eyes about and there beheld his own home within a few minutes' walk. In the darkness he had become confused, and instead of going forward had constantly crossed his own track, finally lying down within a stone's throw of his own fireside. We can asily imagine with what eager haste he crossed the dividing space, for in is lonely condition the sight of a familiar face seemed an oasis in the desert of life. And great was his surrise at his wife and children greeting in as one returned from the or his protracted stay had made them

In excavating the site of the new topers house on the Thames embanknent in London, the workmen found a sword encrusted with rus but with a pommel of solid gold. The weapon has been pronounced by antiquaries to be probably fof the age of Edward L or IL. It is supposed that the sword was either lost or thrown overboard in a scuffle, or in an attempt at rescue in a boat, the place where the weapon was found corresponding exactly to the line usually taken by boats conveying prisoners from the palace at

The Tarboro Southerner says that experienced planters, among them Jesse H. Powell, Esq., informs us the cotton crop has been badly injured by the late protrasted rains. The damage is estimated at 30 per cent. and perhaps more. We are truly sorry tle prospects have so greatly changed.

An exchange thus speaks of Gen. Clingman: "The address of Gen. Clingman at Sewannee on the 5th ult., has been widely circulated, and most favorably commented upon. He has made for himself and enviable reputation as a lecturer and orator. This address at Sewannee will give him a national reputation as a man of fine, keen insight into human nature, and broad views of both civil and ecclesiastical polity."

Says the Tarboro Southerner: "The public is acquainted with the late shooting affray between Mr. A. Me-Cabe and the editor of this paper. The case came up for trial last week. Mr. McCabe submitted and was fined a penny and costs. As the per-sonal and political relations of Judge Moore and Mr. Williams are hostile, he very properly declined to sit on the case, stating that he would request one of his brethren to exchange circuits with him at the next term and leave the matter in his hand. We will state in this connection that the matter between Messrs. McCabe and Williamson has been amicably adjusted through the medium of mutual friends and their former rela-

The Wilson Advance says the re port published last week of the death of Jonathan M. Stone, Esq., of Nash, was untrue. At last accounts that rentleman, though quite feeble, was Stone. We can only account for his mistake from the that he was absent from the polls on the day of election, and was unable to reach there by any conveyance to east his ballot against Radicalism His punctuality and faithfulness have always been so proverbial, that his absence on that occasion must have given rise to the report.

Says the Wilson Plain Dealer : While the editor of the Charlotte Democrat was on a visit to the Eastern part of the State recently, he was informed by Hon. R. R. Bridgers that Lincoln's great but cruel Secretary of War, Edwin M. Stanton, was a native of North Carolina. Mr Stanton told Mr. Bridgers that he was born in sight of the town of Beaufort, N. The dresses of the ladies will in future, in accordance with the latest Parisian fashions, be not only wonderfully but fearfully made. The Paris correspondent of the Warehouseman and Draper's Journa strikes the note of warning as to what we are shortly to expect. Designs, it is stated, are "not only floral and ge-ometric in their tendency, but zoo-Exquisite brocades are sprinkled profusely with lions, tigers, and panthers, "mediaval-looking "that are by no means life like in their proportions of coloring and far more nearly allied to the fab ulous creatures in stone that decorate a Gothic cathedral than the savage denizens of a modern menagarie.' Artists, it seems, has also gone to muse ums and borrowed old heraldic devices with which to ornament the robes of ladies who value their personal appearance. Unicorns, winged bulls, and birds are used profusely. Oriental writing, the hieroglyphics of the ancient Egyptians, Persian arabesques, and Chinese and and Japa-nese signs are artistically converted into patterns. One design is mentioned as being "peculiarly pretty;" it is a scrawl studded here and there with keys some three inches long. There are at least thirty sorts of keys of different epochs, capitally rendered. Of all the pleasing novelties, however, which are being introduced there are none to equal a design in "various insects are introduced."

Loss of Capt. Smith from Yacht Eva.

FORTERSS MONROE, Sept 4.—Capt E. Smith sailing master of the Scien Yacht Eva of the New York Yacht Club, was lost on Thursday Sept. 2d at two thirty a. m. about forty miles South of Cape Henlopen. There was a gale of wind at the time and a heavy sea. The yacht was running before the wind and Capt. Smith was setting on the rail. He lost his balance and fell overboard. The yacht was immediately hove to and a boat lowered, but in the darkness and heavy sea it was impossible to save him.

Barial of Vianni, the Italian buicide.

NEW YORK, Sept 4.-Petro Vian ni was burned yesterday at C ty Isand where he committed suicide on Tuesday last. The deceased having been a Roman Catholic, it was desired to have funeral services per formed by a Clergyman of that c urch, but although several Cathone Priests were applied to none that could be induced to officiate at the grave of the suicide, and the Rev. Mr. Monuelli, a protestant Episcopal Minister, performed that duty.

A Fatal Mistake.

POTTSVILLE, IND., Sep. 4.-Two young men driving in a buggy were a costed by two special police, whom they mistook for outlaws, and one fired, wounding the Policeman. The police returned the fire, killing one and the other young man escaped in the woods. A Vigilance Committee is being organized to suppress Servia Belligerent. London, Sep. 4.—A correspondent of Allegemeine Zeitung writes from Belgrade that Prince Milan is not likely to prevent Servia from helping insurgents. A specia. telegram to the Daily News asserts that Servia intends to call out twenty thousand men; official from Montenegro Journal avows that Montenegro will remain neutral only in case that circumstances should prevent action. Miscellaneous Items.

The Gibson and Henry houses, two of the principal hotels in Charleston, W. Va., have been burned. The explosion of a saw mill boiler at Bloomington, Ind., killed one person and wounded five. A farmer named Skinner, near Washington, Ohio, has been killed by a tramp who he found in his

The grand jury of Washington county, Ga., before whom the alleged negro insurrectionists were tried, have made a report recommending the discharge of the remaining prisoners. In consequence all the prisoners not indicted have been discharged.

It is officially announced in Madrid that the Carlist General Dorregary, in attempting to force his way into Arragona, was twice repulsed with a loss of 400.

Martin Haines acquitted by the U. S. Court at Fort Smith, Ark., of murder, which he subsequently confessed, has been killed by Jim Baily in a house of ill fame.

The Moscow Gazette says the medi ation of the consuls at Ragusa is likely to fail. They cannot guarantee the Turkish concessions, and the insurgents have no common chief who can pledge for them.

Transfers of Gold.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—There were no transfers of gold to San Francisco made by the Treasury Department to-day, but it is probable that on Monday additional transfers amounting to a half million of dollars to be made from the bullion fund of the mint will be authorized. The aggregate amount of gold transfers already made is $2,501,000. The transfer made yesterday in favor of the National Gold Bank was requested for the purpose of aiding the institution in a retirement of a portion of its circulation thus far, as reports coming to the Treasurer indicate the demand for gold is principally for commercial

New Postal Arrangement. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—The Post Office Department has perfected arrangements for a fast mail train from New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore, via Pittsburg to Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, and all points in the southwest. This train will commence running on Monday, Sept. 13th, over the Pennsylvania R. R. and its connecting lines, making extraordinary fast time so as to fully accommodate the immense postal business of the cities designated as well as a limited number of through passengers. The schedules of the train will be arranged and announced in a few days.

The Herzegovina Insurrection. LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Pall Mall Gazette published a special telegram from Berlin stating that the Schlovonic papers announce that the leaders of the insurrection against Turkey have agreed upon a manifesto dem anding the independence of Bosnia and Herzegovina under a christian prince to be chosen from one of European dynasties. They are willing to pay to Turkey a proportion of her national debt, but refuse to participate in conference at most, or fearing Turkish influences.

Confidence Restored-The Election in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—There is nothing new to report in financial or commercial circles. This morning quiet and confidence prevailed and business is moving along in usual manner.

No further election returns calculated to modify last report have been received. The Legislature is doubtedly strongly democratic, but returns are as yet very meagre.

The Condition of Finances and Crops in England.

London, Sept. 4 .- To-day's Times in its financial columns says the firmness in the money market is continued and of discount business done at market rate a large proportion of the bills were negotiated at the higher figure. TELEGRAPHIC NEWS. | Trouble Anticipated in the Dominion of Canada.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.-Mr. Joseph Doutre, Q. C., has prepared an affidavit declaring the public peace threatened. This with another af-fidavit of similar effect has been submitted to a magistrate in order to procure the presence of a force of vol-unteers at the burial of Guiford, which is postponed until some day next week. Further trouble is apprehended and with the feeling on both sides it will be fortunate if no more serious results follow the second.

The San Francisco Befalcation. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.-D. Q. Mills authorizes the statement that the defalcation of the late president of the Bank of California will amount to between three and four millions of dollars, and that an over issue of stock has been discovered. It is not supposed that this will in any way prejudice the arrangements now being made to rehabitate the bank.

Since 1867 the heathen in California has consumed 5.890 boxes of opium, at a cost of $2,421,735. During the years between 1867 and 1870 the amount fell off steadily, but since the latter date it has grown to an enormous figure. Opium is the Chinese substitute for rum, and, if the charge of certain physicians is true, the prohibitory legislation of New England introduced and extended its use into the Eastern as well as the Western
